From Family Business to Family Office : Governance Insights, Challenges and NextGen Perspectives

When a family business evolves into a family office, the governance model must adapt without losing the core values that have shaped the company. In this Peer Talk, Grégoire Bouille shares his experience on how to build resilience, ensure flexibility and foster alignment across generations. The conversation explores key dimensions such as embedding family values, designing agile structures, enabling impact-driven decisions and preparing NextGen members for responsibility. In an open fire-chat format moderated by Ralph Siegl, we reflect on what it takes to create effective governance that is not only robust but also future-oriented and emotionally intelligent.
